A small dog, a cat, several kind-hearted women, an officer of the humane society, the selectmen, and linally a hieroic rescuer who refused a profered reward and would not disclose his name, were the actors in a five-day drama on Prospect hill this week. The dog and the cat appeared in the opening seene Sunday, the cat in full light and the dog making good time belind her. Pussy escaped up a tall pine tree and refused to come down. All Sunday afternion efforts were made to induce the cat to rome down. All Sunday afternion efforts were made to induce the cat to rome down by its mistrest, but alurements were fruitless. The cat spent the night in the treetop and Monday acyerial attempts were made to get it to come to the ground. Several boys climbed up but failed to get within reaching distance of kitty. Throughout Monday might, Tuesday and Tuesday soight the animal remained in the tree, mewing piteously from time to time, but refusing to come down. On Wednesday a systematic effort was made to rescue the cat and the electric light linemen and telephone men were appealed to to scale the tree. They did not respond to the invitation, and one of the society with the long name. Mr. Allen went to the scene and was going fo shoot the cat and put it out of suffering, but its owner argued that the cat would come down when it was not read as it was complete in it. hood notified Henry J. Allen, agent of the society with the long name. Mr. Allen went to the scene and was going to shoot the cat and put it out of suffering, but its owner argued that the cat would come down when it was hungry enough. The selectmen were notified then and there was talk of sending a deputy sheriff to arrest the cat. Nothing was done until yesterday morning, when a stranger appeared, climbed the tree and restored the cat to its owner. She offered him a reward of $1.50, but he refused to take it and would not give his name. Pussy appeared to be in good condition and had a good appetite.

day that it was probable that the annual Washington trip of the senior class would be abandoned after this year. Next year be abandoned after this year. Next year Congress is not expected to be in session after March 4. A large part of the educational value of the trip would be lost if the city was visited after Congress had adjourned, and to go while Congress is in session in 1911 will mean to take a week out of the regular school work.

Mr. Smith also spoke of the increasing difficulty of raising moned to pay the expenses of the trip, and of the problem which might arise from the size of some of the classes now in the schools. The present sophomore class contains 54 members and nearly all are expected to remain in school for graduation. In the first two years that the trip was made main in school for graduation. In the first two years that the trip was made the expenses of 25 people were paid out of the funds raised, and last year the number provided for was 38. The first year people contributed very generously in subscriptions and more than enough money was raised quickly. The next year
